County Agricultural Association Meeting

The Orleans County Agricultural association will hold its annual meeting at Orleans on Aug. 4, beginning at 10 a. m. This should be of interest to every farmer in Orleans county, whether he is a member of the association or not. Every farmer is urged to be present. The organization is one of the largest in the East, but it is the aim to have every farmer in the county become a member. Besides the regular reports of officers and business meeting there will be a speaker, who will give a real live talk and well worth your time to hear him. The meeting will be open and everyone will have a chance to express his views and desires at that time. Come and learn what the proposed projects are. Add your enthusiasm and push the association that it may accomplish the same good results that it has accomplished in many other counties.

T. R. Backs Prouty for Senator.

A meeting of Progressives from all parts of Vermont was held at the Hotel Vermont Monday evening. The political situation was discussed as regards the party's candidate for United States senator and an overwhelming majority of the 35 men present declared in favor of C. A. Prouty of Newport. The meeting was informed by Dr. H. Nelson Jackson and later by Mr. Prouty that at an interview held at Oyster Bay with Colonel Roosevelt, the colonel stated that he would endorse Mr. Prouty as a candidate for United States senator from Vermont.

Mr. Prouty appeared before the meeting and declared his position. He will run as an independent. At a meeting of the state executive committee which followed, the resignation of M. L. Aseltine as state chairman was accepted and Dr. H. Nelson Jackson of this city was elected in his stead. The following resolution was unanimously adopted.

"Being informed that the governor does not intend to call a special session of the legislature in time to enact a primary law for use at the coming election and providing that he does not call said special session, the executive committee is hereby directed to call a delegate state convention according to law for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator and candidates for all state offices."

The convention will probably be held in Burlington the coming month. Prof. Raymond McFarland of Middlebury college was in attendance at the meeting and announced his candidacy for member of Congress from the first district on the Progressive ticket. Professor McFarland consented to enter after receiving pledges of support from a large body of voters from Addison county and other parts of the district.

OUTPUT OF ASBESTOS

Chrysotile Asbestos Corporation of Lowell, Biggest Producers, Will Re-open Mill Soon after being Closed since 1912—Railroad May be Built.

Probably the majority of the people of Vermont do not realize that asbestos is found and mined to any extent in this state, and a still less number know that such is not only the case, but that Vermont leads every state in the union in production of the fireproof material, along with granite and maple products.

Some interesting statistics are given in a pamphlet, "The Production of Asbestos," published by the department of the interior, United States geological survey.

In 1907 in the little town of Lowell, the Lowell Lumber & Asbestos company, now the Chrysotile Asbestos corporation, erected a mill on the south-western slope of Mount Belvidere, and the following year began operations. The mill was greatly enlarged in 1911, and the output increased to its greatest yield that year.

Owing to labor troubles and especially, it is said, to the decline of trade in the countries affected by the Balkan war, the mill shut down during part of 1912 and last year it was not operated at all.

Figures show that the largest annual output of asbestos was in 1911, the banner year of the Lowell company, when 7,604 tons were valued at $118,925. In 1912 the output declined to 4,403 tons and continued to decline the following year.

By these statistics it can readily be seen that the principal output was from Vermont, in fact about two-thirds of the output comes from this state.

However, this industry will be resumed this year, according to W. G. Gallagher, president of the Lowell company who states that electric power has been installed and the plant enlarged. This work is practically completed.

One of the handicaps preventing still greater production in Vermont has been poor facilities for shipping the product, but this problem promises to be solved, according to Mr. Gallagher's statement.

A railroad will be built to Lowell, either from Johnson or Morrisville and the output, according to Mr. Gallagher's statement, should be enormously increased during the next few years.

A diving float is being built, and will be put in place this week opposite the bath house on May shore.

This Man Decides to Renew His Subscription.

Barton, Vt., R. F. D. No. 1, June 2, 1914.

Mr. Editor: You will probably remember that about two weeks ago I came into the newspaper office there at Barton and did some vivid cussing, because when my subscription expired you stopped my paper with that same issue and it looked to me as though you were afraid to trust me. I guess I made a mistake and you tried to explain to me that it was not a case of credit, but an advertised fact that you stopped the paper when the subscription expired, no matter whose subscription. Since I have taken time to cool off a little, I have wondered just where my real kick came. If you had continued a paper that I didn't want, I certainly would have made a holler when you later asked me to settle, and if I had not seen fit to renew my subscription when the label on each issue showed plainly when it would expire, I guess that you naturally would think I didn't want the paper any longer. I have found, too, that some men reputed to be worth a lot of money, who took your paper found that when their subscription did expire, you stopped the paper, and really isn't it better than to keep refusing it at the postoffice? I am enclosing my check for renewal for the next year and I am willing to admit that I like a policy that after it says a thing, squarely sticks to it no matter who the subscriber is.

Very truly,
A. C. M.

Miss Clara Colburne of New York is the guest of her sister, Miss Colburne, for two weeks. Miss Clara Colburne is the principal of a young ladies' school in New York city.

Miss Gertrude Skinner of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived at her home at J. F. Batchelder's Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Batchelder meeting her at Greensboro with their car.

The Crystal Lake garage has in another carload of Chevrolets. Richmond and Tower have sold a large number of these cars this season, which have given splendid satisfaction.

Miss Elida L. Bragg is taking a two weeks' vacation, and has gone to her home in Georgia. Vt. Miss Bernice Lincoln of Stanstead is taking Miss Bragg's place in W. W. Reiden's office.

Chas. Jackson, formerly of Barton, but now with the McGowan company of Boston, has been spending his vacation at W. W. Reiden's camp, and was a visitor of Kimball Page the first of the week.

The eighth band concert of the season will be held on street Saturday evening. Following is the program: March, "Pepper Pot," overture, "The Royal Emblem," waltz, "Last Night Was the End of the World," "Humoresque," march, "The Drummer Boy," waltz, "In the Garden," march, "Peg o' My Heart," "Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Florence Tower Moody, who has been spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Tower, left last week for Lebanon and Waterbury to visit relatives. From Waterbury she will return to her home in Iowa.

"Sam" Dutton of Plainville, Mass., is spending a week's vacation with his sister, Mrs. N. M. Hubbard, of this place. Dutton has a position with a large jewelry house at Plainville, Mass., and is another young Barton boy, who has made good.

The Misses Belle Rollins, Octavia Brooks, Yolande Blair, Sadie Labounty and Lida Paquette returned Saturday night from a week's vacation spent in the Beaulieu cottage at May pond. All report a very enjoyable time. Ask Sadie about the fishing.

Mrs. Geo. Lang gave Miss Lida Austin a shower at the Lang home last evening. There were about thirty present. A musical and literary entertainment was given, and Miss Austin was presented with a casserole, and traveling lamp and a Nutting picture.

F. J. Bates, the new principal of the Barton academy and Mrs. Bates arrived in town Monday. They have rooms at J. A. Gilman's on Main street until the Liddell tenement, which is being repainted and papered is ready for occupancy, when they will make this place their home.

More than forty members and friends of the Le Beau Lac boat club took an automobile trip to North Troy Friday evening, where they took supper at the hotel there and later attended a social hop. All of them report a very delightful ride, a good supper and an altogether pleasant evening.

We note the death the past week of Martha Dana Shepard at Dorchester, Mass. Martha Dana Shepard is well known to all lovers of music, here and especially at Orleans, where for many seasons she was conductress of some of the finest musical conventions held in Orleans county.

Do not forget that this is the V. I. S. automobile week, and if you have not already patronized some of the trips, do so, you can make it a business and pleasure trip combined and

BARTON A SUMMER RESORT

Natural Surroundings and Good Roads Make Town an Ideal Spot for Tourists.

After the building of Hotel Barton by a syndicate of public-spirited individuals about twenty years ago and the advent at that time of Messrs. Elliott and Pattee as proprietors of the new house, the town enjoyed for the first time an actual summer business, which although somewhat slowly, has steadily increased up to the present time.

There has never been any question but that the natural surroundings were ideal for a tourist trade, but we have never been quite willing to advertise our summer attractions until the past few years. Located within a daytime ride of Boston, Springfield and New York City, and within a few hours' ride of Montreal, we certainly should be considered quite near enough to these principal cities to draw from them many more summer people than we could possibly care for.

Only two years ago this month, Miss Elma French came into our office to ask with her for the past three years, and by one daughter, Mrs. G. Fred Wheeler of Chicago, Ill. Funeral services were at the home Sunday afternoon, the Rev. I. A. Ranney officiating and interment was in the family lot at Newport, N. H., Monday.

ambition in order to make a team. This year will be the first in a long time that Barton has not had a team in the field at the Orleans county fair. But perhaps it's a good thing. Is it?

The Woman's Literary club are to hold a fair early in the fall for the benefit of the library fund. The following are the committees: Entertainment—Miss Redfield, Miss Ferrin, Mrs. Ruth Webster, Miss Fannie May; apron—Mrs. McGoff, Mrs. Royston, Mrs. Flanders, Mrs. Buck; fancy work—Mrs. Cutler, Mrs. Wright, Miss Colburne; candy—Mrs. Lang, Mrs. McFarland, Miss Atwell; food—Mrs. Reiden, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Cook; canned goods and vegetables—Miss Telfer, Miss Gilpin, Miss Bragg; plants and flowers—Miss Butler, Miss Hamblet, Miss Willson, Miss Vera Webster; demonstration—Mrs. Stannard, Mrs. Batchelder; grab-bag—Miss Wheeler and Miss Potter; children's booth—Mrs. Erwin, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Buswell, Mrs. Tower.

An accident occurred Sunday morning about 10.30 on Church street directly in front of C. E. Hamblet's residence when a team being driven by R. Kleiner became frightened at an automobile. Mr. Kleiner was accompanied by Godfrey Frey, an elderly man, and when the horse became unmanageable it crossed the street, the buggy striking two of the trees on the Blaisdell property and being overturned. Mr. Kleiner was not at all injured but Mr. Frey received a bad bruise on the head and arms as well as having one leg badly injured, but no bones were broken. Dr. Hastings was called, and Mrs. Harriet Austin kindly volunteered her services. After properly dressing and bandaging the bruises Mr. Frey was taken to the home of Mr. Kleiner near Orleans. The buggy was badly damaged but the horse was not injured and was stopped near the Congregational church by Raymond Ryder. Later in the day Mr. Kleiner was able to drive home. Apparently no blame should attach to anyone, as the automobile belonging to Orleans parties was going very slowly and fully half the street was given to the team. The automobile party stopped and gladly rendered any assistance they could.

Songs You Like to Hear.

What's the time? Tuesday evening, Aug. 11. Where's the place? Seaver's hall, Barton. Who's the girl? Marion Bickford. But there are other attractions. Miss Daisy Stevens of Newport, happily remembered here as a pleasing reader, will give selections both serious and humorous. Blinny Lang, with his clarinet and Amory Seaver, as accompanist, both well known for their musical ability, will complete an evening of pleasurable entertainment.

Mrs. Eliza French Cutting.

Mrs. Eliza French Cutting died at her home on Lincoln avenue Friday morning, the immediate cause being a shock, although she has been in poor health for several weeks. Eliza Ann French was born in Meriden, N. H., Feb. 11, 1838. On March 20, 1861, she married Addison Cutting of Crofton, N. H., at Claremont. The greater part of her life was spent in Crofton, where she resided until coming to Barton in November, 1900. She was a member of the M. E. church at Newport, N. H. She is survived by her son, F. W. Cutting, of Barton, who has lived with her for the past three years, and by one daughter, Mrs. G. Fred Wheeler of Chicago, Ill. Funeral services were at the home Sunday afternoon, the Rev. I. A. Ranney officiating and interment was in the family lot at Newport, N. H., Monday.

Vermont Notes.

Danville, in Caledonia county, has 135 miles of highway—more than any other town in the state. Danville receives from the highway fund twice the amount it contributes through the 5 per cent assessment on the grand list.

Rev. Roy M. Houghton, pastor of the Congregational church at Brattleboro, has rejected a call to the pastorate of the Euclid avenue Congregational church of Cleveland, O., which pays a salary of $4,000 a year, with the parsonage, feeling that his work in Brattleboro is not yet completed.

Emory S. Harris of Bennington, chairman of the Democratic state committee, has sent a letter to the members of the committee calling them together for a consultation at Burlington Friday evening. The meeting is called for the purpose of going over the situation in Vermont and getting a line on conditions as they are likely to affect the coming election.

Within a few days the building of a factory for the Luddington Woodmenware company will be commenced in Wilmington, with a warehouse adjacent. The company, which comes from Michigan, will erect its own buildings, using Wilmington carpenters as far as possible, and when completed will furnish work for about 50, in addition to some who are coming from Michigan with the company.

What seems to be an inexhaustible supply of nearly pure limestone has been found upon the farm of L. B. Andrews in Wilmington, and it is planned to interest capital in the matter and begin before long the quarrying of the rock. Mr. Andrews' farm of 160 acres contains quantities of the rock, which assayed 85 per cent pure limestone at the state agricultural college in Burlington.

Hugh Meron of Springfield, Mass., visited at Geo. Simon's last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharney from Island Pond recently visited Mrs. Gilbert.

A daughter, Jessie Mamie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Farr July 26.

Roy Brahana and Marion Brown of Lowell were at J. A. Brown's Sunday.

Mrs. Helen Campbell has returned from a visit in Hardwick and Morrisville.
